Hockey My Passion

Playing hockey is my passion, the fast-paced action and the teamwork make every game an incredible experience. I love the challenge of improving my skills, strategizing on the field, and pushing myself to be better. Hockey has taught me discipline, perseverance, value of hard work and the importance of teamwork.

Whether playing or watching, hockey is more than just a game for me—it's a way of life.

Procurement Officer

The Nature

I had been to Ranthambhore Forest, Sawai Madhopur, on 31st January 2025. Tiger spotting is a testing of patience, a nerve-jangling and dusty experience. After the thrilling experience of watching 3 cubs of Riddhi, the notorious Queen of Ranthambore in the world of tigers, the fifth generation of the legendary tigress Machali (The Lady of the Lake – She is no more) is the centre of attraction nowadays in the wilderness of Ranthambore and wildlife lovers. Our guide took a break in open areas of ZONE IV.

Suddenly Rufous Treepie appeared from nowhere and started moving around our jeep. One opted to sit on my hat. Other tourists were having fun and clicking photos. Suddenly I became a tourist attraction.

The Rufous Treepie is called the Toothpick Bird of the Tiger. This is also known as the Indian Treepie. A member of the crow family and colourful. The bird has similar colours to a tiger.

Also called “Tiger’s Dentist”, this bird, the RUFOUS TREEPIE, enters very fast into the mouths of the carnivorous animals and eats the flesh stuck in their teeth, which causes them pain. It is also called a tiger's toothpick due to its nature of eating the leftover food from the tiger's teeth.

It is omnivorous like its cousin the crow and eats fruits, insects, lizards, frogs, centipedes and even carrion, in addition to the eggs and helpless young of birds and rodents. Found in the jungles of Ranthambore and Sariska Wildlife Sanctuaries.
